1. GENERAL INFORMATION

Introduction to Societal Research!

Societal Research is offered to students in Semester II, with the research skills necessary to understand and address complex societal issues. In today's interconnected world, the ability to analyse social phenomena, gather and interpret data, and propose sustainable solutions is paramount. This course provides a framework for students to develop these essential competencies, fostering informed decision-making and a sense of social responsibility. Through a blend of theoretical knowledge and practical application, students will learn to navigate the research process, from identifying a problem to presenting actionable findings.

This course emphasizes a hands-on approach, guiding students through the various stages of research, including problem identification, objective setting, data collection, and analysis. Students will learn to formulate research questions, design appropriate methodologies, and critically evaluate information. The course also delves into the ethical considerations involved in conducting research with societal issues, ensuring that students are equipped to conduct responsible and impactful studies. Furthermore, the course explores the role of communication in disseminating research findings and advocating positive social change.

Course Objectives

This course is designed to:

- Enable the students to develop research skills.
- Acquaint with the knowledge of societal issues.
- Familiarize data analysis and propose sustainable solutions fostering informed decision making and social responsibility.

1.1.Course Outcomes

CO1: Identify a social phenomenon that needs an intervention

CO2: Apply the relevant research skills and collect data to make informed decision

CO3: Analyze data pertaining to the social phenomenon and identify the trends and pattern

CO4: Arrive at findings and suggestions to address the social phenomenon.

2. THE COURSE

2.1.Course Description

SOCIETAL RESEARCH
Semester	II	CIE Marks	50
Course Code	23MBSE527	SEE Marks	50
Teaching Hours/Week (L:T:P)	0:0:4	Exam Hrs	2.5
Credits	02

Societal Research (23MBSE527) is a Semester II, 2-credit course designed to equip students with research skills and knowledge of societal issues. Through 0:0:4 (L:T:P) practical hours per week, students will learn to identify social phenomena requiring intervention, formulate research problems and objectives, and define the scope of their studies. The course covers data collection, analysis, and interpretation, culminating in the development of findings, conclusions, and proposed solutions. The course includes chapters on introduction and problem statement formulation, research objectives and scope, data analysis, and final findings. Assessment is based on 50 marks CIE and 50 marks SEE, with a 2.5-hour exam. The course aims to foster informed decision-making and social responsibility by enabling students to propose sustainable solutions to societal challenges.

2.2 Initiating Contact with Staff and Other Students

We encourage open communication and value your inquiries about the Course. However, given the large number of students in this course, we encourage that you use email, make use of office hours of the faculty and any other forms of correspondence thoughtfully. Before reaching out with administrative questions, please check if your query has already been addressed in previous communications or in the materials provided in this handbook.

2.3 Resources

Resources include dynamic tools such as digital libraries, e-learning platforms, and research databases, which provide students with anytime, anywhere access to academic materials and interactive courses through a variety of resources available on the college website, including the VTU Consortium, open-access repositories, and government portals (e.g., NPTEL, NDLI).

E-learning and digital library can be accessed via the college website <https://mite.ac.in/> (Campus Life section > Library > VTU Consortium/e-learning platforms/additional sources).

2.5 Contents for Societal Research Project

Chapter 1:
Introduction, Problem Statement, Title formulation.
Chapter 2:
Research objectives, Need for the study and Scope of the study.
Chapter 3:
Data collection, Analysis and Interpretation
Chapter 4:
Findings, Conclusion and Learning.
Annexure: Questionnaire, pictures, video links..

3. ASSESSMENT

The assessment for the Societal Research is based on 50-marks CIE and 50-marks SEE. Students are expected to carry out societal research for a period of one week at the end of the first semester. It is aimed to foster informed decision-making and social responsibility by enabling students to propose sustainable solutions to societal challenges.

Students are expected to adhere to deadlines and submit report on time. Key information regarding examination dates and related details can be accessed via the college website (Academics and Courses section > Calendar of Events > PG Even Sem)
